Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Fleas on a dog keep him active and healthy, and knockers and fault finders help to keep a town on its toes. We are reminded of this as various comments are made on the way Nevada City is getting ready to celebrate the Fourth. We hope those at the head of the celebration arrangements will take this broad view of the criticism that accompanies any community effort for a bright spot on the map, or a place in the sun. Personally we desire here and now to congratulate all those who are taking time out from their business to put over a humdinger Fourth on the success that is attending their endeavors. We believe the right citizens have been chosen for the task, and that they are making a good job of it.

We never yet saw or heard of a school that was administered in a manner to suit all citizens. In another column we are printing a letter from a parent whose son was recently disciplined with 26 other boys and girls for playing hookey for one day, in other words sticking to the outworn practice of a "skip day." Most of the parents who have been agitated as result of the discipline administered their offspring, must have a short memory. For it was only five or six years ago that the citizens were generally protesting that the high school students received no discipline whatever. The truth of the matter seems to be, not only as regards Nevada City high school but all schools, that parents of children who receive the least discipline at home, are the most sensitive about the discipline their children receive at school.

We think it well to offer a contrast between what Nevada City high school was six years ago, and what it is today. Dissension, vandalism and hoodlumism, low scholarship standards and poor student morale, kept the faculty and school board in a constant state of anxiety and turmoil. Today we have a high scholarship standard, and on the whole excellent order in class rooms and athletic fields and an earnest student body which is striving with its teachers to make Nevada City high a still better school. Students who have gone away to other universities are reflecting great credit on the teaching and standards of scholarship. The reports received from the universities of the work done by Nevada City high graduates, are excellent, generally above the average for the students in universities.

This advance in the character and scholarship standing of the Nevada City high school is due very largely to the endeavors of Mr. Kjorlie, the principal. We suspect that he could make it a still better sshool if the school board would, as is done in practically all first class high schools of the state, act on his recommendations solely in selecting members of the teaching staff. He is in a position to be a better judge of teaching ability than any member of the school board.

Those who find fault with the discipline the 27 hookey playing seniors received, are careful to state that they do not criticise punishment as a disciplinary measure for such conduct. They only find fault with the manner of it. That kind of criticism attaches to all efforts of mankind to administer justice either in the cchools or out.

If the schools fail in disciplining youth into orderly habits and proper regard for the rights of others, the more education youth receives, the more of a menace they will be to the peace and ordered liberty of their fellow citizens later on.

We have too many young men breaking laws—traffic laws, laws of all kinds. Seventy five per cent or more of all those in prisons and the jails are under 20 years of age. Why? Because parents and school teachers have been failing for various reasons to inculcate a respect for law in the children. Passing the buck, parents to teachers, teachers back to parents, get nowhere. The responsibility is divided and only co-operation, parents with the schools, of the most vital and earnest kind will help the child.

STRING OF LIGHTS

Mr. E. J. N. Ott, chairman of the decorating committee, stated this morning that 18 strings of colored lights were strung in the business district this forenoon. The evergreen trees will be put up on the streets Thursday afternoon.

Slayer Suspects Caught

Newman Brothers Accused of Murder Are Lodged in Jail

Monte aand Merritt Newman accused of the murder of Christian Meyers in the early morning of January 16 on the Tahoe Ukiah highway above Nevada City, are in jail. They were returned to face trial in this county by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriff Will Wood, following their arrest in Leadville, Colorado a few days ago.

The arrest of the two wanted men came as a result of a anonymous tip received by the sheriff, from Arizona. Following the murder, the two men, who lived, one with his wife, the other with his mother in Grass Valley, remained there three days. They were suspected of being the two who had committed the crime. Sheriff Tobiassen wished to arrest them at once and hold them for questioning, but District Attorney Stoll advised waiting until more evidence was available. Then the two disappeared leaving their car in the garage.

According to the account of the Newmans they went first to Marysville, were there three days, then hopping a freight train they went to San Bernardino where they remained for several weeks. From there they went to Yuma, then to Phoenix, and finally to Octave, Arizona, where they worked for three months in a mine. It was there that Monte Newman nearly died of ptomaine poisoning. On his recovery they went to Colorado where the long arm of the law directed by Sheriff Tobiassen finally found them.

They refused to make any statement or confession to the sheriff. Since arriving at Colfax this morning they have shown no disposition to talk to any one. They have been placed on separate floors of the jail and will be questioned by District Attorney Stoll.

The murder of which the two men are accused was one of the most atrocious in the annals of Nevada County. Christian Meyer and his sweetheart, Miss Gwendolyn Coates, whom he was about to marry, had stopped their car on the highway grade above this city. While Meyer was attempting to start the car. This according to Miss Coates is what happened:

"We had stopped on the grade and were trying to get the car to go," she said. "Chris was cranking it, and finding he could not start it was working on the engine. These two men in a green sedan drove up the grade stopped in front of our car. Both men wore handkerchiefs over their faces.

"The two men got out of their car and one came around to my side of the car, the other stayed with Chris," Chris said: 'It it's money you want, here is my wallet. I don't think there's more than a dollar in it.' The man on my side grabbed me and tried to pull me out of the car. Chris said: 'You leave my girl alone.'

"They did not want money. They wanted me."

"They both pitched onto Chris. I got out of the car and grabbed the crank and began to beat them over the head. I don't know why it did not hurt more.

"The shorter of the two then pointed a shotgun at me. Chris grabbed the barrel and got shot. They made me get back into the car. Chris staggered to the front of the car and the men began beating him again. They knocked him down and began kicking him. I got out of the car screaming.

'I tried to help him. They struck me terribly hard. I fell back and went over the bank. I hid behind a bush. I knew I could not do Chris any good if I were killed. One of the men said: "The dame is done for. Let's shove the car over the bank.'

"They couldn't get the car started because the wheels near the bank were in the mud. So they turned around and drove back toward Nevada City.

"I crawled back up the bank and helped Chris climb into the car. We could not get the car going so I ran toward Nevada City for help.

"Chris kept honking the horn to let me know he was alright. I ran half a mile. I guess, before someone came along and gave me a ride. I went to the sheriff's office then back to the car to bring Chris in."

Christian Meyers died at 6o'clock that morning following an operation. The shotgun fired at close range was a twelve gauge. One buck shot only had penetrated his left chest fracturing a rib which punctured his left lung. The buckshot lodged near the spine. The immediate cause of death was internal hemmorhage. The autopsy was performed by Dr. Carl P. Jones.

The gun which is believed to have been used in this murder was found some weeks later by the son of one of the men in the blackberry patch on the Newman premises. The car, the sheriff believes, has been positively identified as the one used on the night of the shooting. The girl Miss Coates, the only eye witness of the shooting was permitted some months ago by District Attorney Stoll to go to relatives in Montana. She agreed, however, to return whenever the two suspected men were arrested, and her presence was necessary as a witness.

PEGGY MOODY ELECTED QUEEN OF WHISKERETTES

The votes in the Whiskerette queen contest were counted at 10:30 this morning and it was found Miss Peggy Moody, had received the largest number of votes. They are as follows. Miss Moody, 108,739; Miss Anita Walder, 106,035; and Miss Etta Bankus, 105,634. The girls ran a very close race. Misses Walder and Bankus will act as maids and sit on the float with the queen on July Fourth.

Miss Moody will be first crowned during a program at an open air platform in front of the Elks Building Friday evening by the Whiskerinos. Later the same evening the queen will again be crowned at Armory Hall by Mr. Charles Leiter, general chairman of the Fourth committee.

MINING ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING SAT

At the California Hydraulic Mining Association meeting held at the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley on Saturday President J. P. Hall presided, declared that the sole question now at issue was whether the miners could or would make the showing necessary to secure construction of the debris control dams.

W. G. Allen, chairman of the inter-relations committee pointed out that the substitution of the word "guarantee" for assurance in the form of an article, designated as Article 13—yet to be drafted, wherein the applicant would give certain guarantees that mining would be inaugurated and continued over a period of years, was more or less merely a change in phraseology. He pointed out that no deposit or bond was required.

Chairman Allen called attention to two factors that might prove a serious detriment in the work of securing the debris control dams. First the indifference on the part of the miners and the spread of propaganda by uninformed groups.

It is hoped by the association to have Congressman Harry L. Englebhight address the next meeting which will be held at Colfax on July 11th.

Three-day Celebration to Eclipse All Former Events in Nev. City

All preparations have been practically completed for Nevada City's greatest celebration since pioneer times. Plans for the July 3, 4, and 5 have been well organized, and tonight at 8 o'clock, Charles W. Leiter, chairman of the Foudth of July committee, has called a meeting at which all members of the committee are urgently asked to be present, to arrange for the last details.

There will be three days of spectacles, sports, dancing, oratory, of parade, music, vaudeville shows, of the display of Argonaut costumes, and 49'er beards.

Next Friday evening there will be a big show at the corner of Pine and Commercial streets. This will take place at 7:30 o'clock. Then will follow the grand opening of the El Dorado in Armory Hall. This show is staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and promises to be one of the stellar events. It will open every evening about 9 o'clock and there will be amusements, dancing, and games, after the style of the pioneer times.

On Saturday, July the Fourth, will begin the big day's program. In the morning a grand parade, which is expected to eclipse all former parades this city has seen. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a program of sports at Pioneers Park. Incidentally during the past few days, under the direction of R. J. Bennetts, the big meadow has been transformed into a first class baseball diamond and athletic field. It is there the games will be held. The park will also be open to all those who wish a delightful place to picnic and hold basket lunches. Saturday evening there will be another big show on the platform at Pine and Commercial streets. R. J. (Dick) Bennetts has secured some unusual attractions for these shows, and there will be a number of surprises in store. Following the show, El Dorado in Armory Hall will open with a blast and continue until the wee sma' hours.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be the Independence Day oration delivered at Pioneers Park by District Attorney Lowell J. Sparks of Placer county. There will be drilling contests, both for hand and machines, staged in the park. This will be followed by aquatic events at the swimming pool, racing, diving and water polo. CALNEVA LIQUOR CASE TO BE HEARD THURSDAY

The case of the alleged liquor law violation at Calneva lodge a few days ago, will come up before Judge Bliss at Truckee Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. District Attorney Lowell J. Sparks of Placer county will represent the people.

Russell B. Farley, board of equalization agent in this district, stated today that Mr. R. B. Joyner, another liquor control agent in the Truckee district, had requested the resort obtain a license in 1935, and they refused. Mr. H. G. Kerrigan, in charge of the district out of the Marysville office, also asked Mr. McKay part owner to secure a permit, and he also refused.

Mr. Farley stated two surveys had been made of the lodge on the state line by a licensed engineer and it was found the line ran tthrough the building. He also stated the lodge would have been pinched the first night, as liquor was sold all over the place, but the crowd was too large.

The arrest last week was made by Mr. Farley, when he found liquor served to Dan Greeley, W. D. Ingram and Ed Beck, all liquor control agents, seated at a table in California. The complaint was signed against George Polus, charging him with serving liquor in California without a legal permit from the state.

COMMITTEES WILL COMPLETE 4TH PLANS TONIGHT

Final plans for the three day celebration will be discussed at the Fourth of July general committee meeting, which Chairman Charles W. Leiter has called for tonight at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Committee chairmen will give the final reports.

The parade committee requests that those planning to make entries list them with Frank Davies at the Plaza Superservice Station or Chas. Leiter at the Nevada City Garage. If entries are handed in early the committee can outline the parade and assign every entry to a place in the parade.

Those who wish to take part in the 49er costume unit of the parade will also please report to Mr. Leiter or Mr. Davies.

It's Your Good News

To newspapers of the nation last week came a bit of good news that is worth passing on, since it concerns advertising, and progress in advertising is really good news to every producer, distributor, or consumer—in short, to everyone.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association, reported results of its annual survey, showing that the 387 leading American companies spent $135,000,000 in 1935 to back up their conviction that it pays to advertise—in newspapers. This was roughly 60 per cent of their entire expenditure, leaving 40 per cent for all other media, and the total was considerably more than in the previous year. But it's your good news.

Just the other day Ralph Taylor, Executive Secretary of the Agricultural Council of California, wrote a piece on what newspaper advertising has done for producers. He cited the "Sunkist" growers of citrus fruits, who in 28 years spent $20,000,000 for advertising, thereby increasing per capita consumption of their product from seven pounds to 37.5 pounds, a jump of 428 per cent!

As for distributors, all progressive individual merchants utilize newspapers to boost sales. And the whole modern system of multiple-unit, big volume, rapid turnover retailing has extensive advertising as its very bed-rock basis. From this the public benefits through lower prices.

The Federal Trade Commission credits a large part of the multiple-unit stores' lower selling prices to "their more extensive use of newspaper advertising." And a recently-passed Florida law designed to punish these stores cites as one reason their "more efficient coverage and results obtained from advertising."

Whatever else all this proves, it does seem to give a lot of official recognition to newspaper advertising as a public service. And that, as gains continue, makes it your good news.

The Gas Tax Joker

Probably no other organization in California has fought so consistently, so incessantly, and so energetically against gas tax diversion as the State Automobile Association. Yet a proposed initiative purporting to write into the constitution a specific guarantee against gas tax diversion, last week drew vigorous objection from the Auto Association.

Here is the Association's statement, verbatim.

"Widespread sentiment against using highway funds for other purposes is apparently being appealed to by originators of the measure as a means of echieving their real aims, foremost of which is to provide a virtual subsidy for Diesel-operated trucks."

There can be no doubting the sincerity and truth of this proposal to do what they want done, unless there is something phoney about the proposal. That is as mathematically inevitable as the fact that two and two make four.

The "joker" in the initiative is a provision limiting the per gallon tax on Diesel fuel to the per gallon gasoline tax rate. Diesel users can go twice as far as gasoline users on a gallon of fuel. Thus they would pay only half as much tax per mile travelled.

"The evident aim of this provision," the Association said, "is to forestall an equitable Diesel tax measure at the next legislature, there being at present no tax on Diesel fuel for highway use."

California's Automobile Association deserves a vote of thanks for warning us in time. And the interests behind this measure deserves a good spanking for trying to put it over on us.

Patrons of Pacific Greyhound Lines will enjoy new thrills in bus travel when they ride in the latest motorcoach creation. These "super-buses" represent the most recent developments in bus construction. Below is shown one of the fleet of 50 ultra modern coaches recently put in service by Pacific Greyhound Lines. With motor installed in rear, the passenger compartment is insulated from motor noises and vibration and all fumes and exhaust gases are shut out. Above is depicted the interior of the bus with unique seating arrangement for 36 passengers above the level of the six foot high aisle which runs the length of the car. Seats are spaced to provide adequate leg room. Baggage is carried in special compartments, sealed against dust and water, underneath the bus. These buses are exclusive with Greyhound.

Frank Williams, driver of the Nevada City-Grass Valley bus line, who had several passengers aboard, was crowded from the highway near Hills Flat Saturday afternoon by a large blue car. Mr. Williams was compelled to turn from the road to avoid a serious accident, but the big yellow bus was considerably scratched by tree branches. The blue car did not stop.

CALIFORNIA HAS BIG SHARE IN U. S. ROAD FUND

What California will receive in Federal aid funds for road construction under measures just passed by Congress and signed by the President is detailed in an analysis of the legislation by the Highways Bureau of the California State Automobile Association. The measures, adoption of which was actively supported by the motorists organization appropriate Federal aid road funds for the current biennium and provide for continuance of the program on the present basis for the fiscal years 1938 and 1939.

Available to California, July 1, for the fiscal year ending June 30 1937, is an allotment of $4,721,712 for state road work, while apphroximately $1,000,000 will also be available for the same period for roads in national forests and parks within the state.

For each of the subsequent two fiscal years California will receive $4,756,959 for designated Federal aid roads, and $950,000 for secondary or feeder roads. One of the requirements is that these two amounts must be matched by the state and there must also be no diversion of gasoline tax revenues from present purposes. Another allotment will be $1,80,000 for grade crossing elimination, with the provision that the money shall be spent solely for structural purposes, the state to pay for surveys, engineering, and the like.

The 1938-39 biennium will bring California $1,334,000 for forest highways, $500,000 for forest development roads, and $300,000 for roads across unappropriated public lands. There will be other sums, at present unapportioned, for roads within national parks and Indian reservations.

The total amount of Federal aid money to be distributed to all the states annually for road purposes will be $238,00,000.

SUPER BUSES LAST WORD IN TOURING EASE

Something really new in automotive equipment may be seen today on California highways as the first units of a fleet of 50 ultra modern streamlined buses were placed in service by Pacific Breyhound Lines.

Among features which make these "super-buses" different from all previous types of buses are unique seating arrangements for 36 passengers; streamlined exterior and installation of the motor in rear of the car.

Body construction of duralumin reduces the weight of these modern road-liners far below that of conventional type buses. Interior fittings are of luxury type and innovations in the design and construction of deep-cushioned reclining chairs, spaced to afford more than usual leg room makes them outstanding in riding comfort.

Baggage is carried in special compartments, sealed against dust and water, underneath the bus. With the exception of small overhead racks for hats and packages, interior of the bus is clear.

Passengers board the coach on a curb level step to a vestibule connecting with an aisle of more than six feet headroom, running the entire length of the car. This aisle is a short step below the actual floor of the passenger seating deck. Seats, thus elevated, are adequately spaced to allow ample leg room. Passengers ride above the dust and vibration line and have an unobstructed outlook through wide windows of shatterproof glass above the tops of passing vehicles.

Installed on rubber mountings in the rear of the bus, the motor is completely and heavily insulated from the passenger compartment eliminating motor noise and vibration and shutting out motor fumes and gasses.

The new buses represent an investment of more than a half million dollars which Pacific Greyhound lines has dedicated to the comfort of its patrons in the interests of better transportation.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS TO OPERATE CONCESSIONS

The big Veterans of Foreign Wars Fourth of July concession in Armory Hall is now nearly completed. The finishing touches are rapidly being put on to turn the hall into a regular old time Eldorado.

Entertainers have been secured from the famous Club Dixie in San Francisco, and the Rodeo Dance Orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music. The longest bar in Nevada county has been constructed in the rear of the hall to furnish refreshments for the thirsty.

In addition to these entertainments, all the old time gambling games will be in full blast during the three days of Nevada City's mammoth Independence Day celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dornback, of Oakland, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alec Durbin on upper Nevada street and their niece, and nephew, Miss Dorothy Thomas and Donald Thomas.

SHARPERS USING NAME OF STATE TRAFFIC PATROL

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—George F. Moynahan, secretary of the California Association of Highway Patrolmen, revealed the operations of a statewide bunco ring today and urged business and professional men of Nevada City to notify the nearest state patrol office of solicitations for advertising space, purportedly for the association's year book.

Moynahan said hundreds of dollars already had been paid out to solicitors attired as patrolman and with apparently genuine crededentials.

"But they are swindlers," the secretary declared. "We have given them no authorization to represent the association, nor have they any right to pose as officers."

He said solicitations were made in the name of the California Highway Patrol, and California Highway Patrolmen in addition to the association, while the men claimed to represent the following publications: "The All City Employees' Associations Magazine," "California Highway Patrol," "California State Employee," or the "Municipal Motorcycle Officers of California."

In several instances a solicitor presented himself as C. H. McDonald, transacted the spurious business and later "C. E. Murphy" collected payment for the contracted advertising space. Moynahan said the former was a forgery and the latter unauthorized.

"At first the men wore plain clothes, but later they adopted more cunning methods including impersonation of officers." Moynahan said. "We want to break up this ring and therefore ask the cooperation of all persons. In the end both the association and the public will profit by its extermination.

"For purposes of identification, contact the nearest highway patrol office or local authorities when approached by a solicitor. Possibly he will be all right. However, he might be a member of the ring, attempting to mulct the business or professional man of more money."

TO RUN TUNNEL FOR SOUTH AMERICAN MINE

F. C. O'Connor paid a short visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. G. O'Connor of this city and left for Colombo, South America, where he will superintend the running of two miles of tunnel for a large mining company. The tunnel is to supply water for the mine. Mr. O'Connor recently completed a tunnel in San Francisco bay region which is a part of the Hetch Hetchy water supply system of San Francisco.

"Somebody Say"

(Dedicated to M. S.)

Our Mary Ann was an Indian maid—
Her eyes were demure, her deportment was staid;
But her voluble tongue had a curious way
Of stressing wild tales with a "somebody say."

How she gathered her data, no one could tell,
This being her secret, she guarded it well;
And whether her scandals were sombre or gay,
She seasoned them all with a "somebody say."

If a mule were stolen or merely a drill,
If high graders tampered with sluice box or mill,
If husbands philandered or wives went astray,
She garnished each detail with "somebody say."

When men left assessment work undone,
When a claim was jumped or a feud was begun,
When a salted strike petered out and away
Mary Ann spread the news with her "somebody say."

Now gossip's a fine art, and our Mary Ann
Had worked out a truly commendable plan;
She scooped inside stories and in the relay,
Safeguarded herself with, "oh, somebody say."

So now when I'm stirring up neighborhood ghosts
For the edification of callers or hosts,
I tell all the facts in my garrulous way,
But I hide in a smoke screen of "somebody say."

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

OLD SIDE SADDLE IS ON DISPLAY

Mr. J. B. Hubbard of Nevada City brought out his mother's 60-year-old side saddle and placed it on display in the Bosworth Furniture store. His late mother, Mrs. Emily V. Hubbard, then Miss Emily Ven der Veer, who came with her parents from New York to Pasadena made a nine months horseback ride through northern California with a camping party of outdoor lovers in 1876. The main party rode horseback and a wagon followed carrying the duffle. The party went to Yosemite Valley which was practically undeveloped and Mr. Hubbard stated there was none of the horrible commercialism that there is there today. From there they rode to Truckee, Lake Hahoe. Lumbering had just started there among immense virgin pines.

The party camped at Donner Lake a few days then rode over Hennes Pass, to Nevada City and camped at the old Morgan ranch near Rough and Ready. There Mrs. Hubbard traded saddle horses with one of the Morgan boys, supposedly Gordon Morgan. The Nevada City district was covered with large trees and it was possible to ride through miles of large timber.

Years later her son, Mr. Hubbard and wife bought a ranch adjoining the Morgan property at Town Talk and Mrs. Emily Hubbard came with them. It is still in the family. The country was infested with rattle snakes, aften two dozen were killed at a camp site. Hair ropes were laid around the tents, to keep out snakes, a theory exploded today.

The marvel of this leisurely trip on horseback is the length of time spent in traveling. Today an automobile will make the trip in a few days, camping at each place they stopped.

SENIOR PARENT WRITES POINT OF VIEW ON SCHOOL

(By MRS. JESSIE D. JOYAL)

Inasmuch as the board of education has seen fit to publish its opinion of the senior skip day, it is only fair that the senior parents should also be represented. Having personally talked with the fathers and mothers of at least thirty senior students, I feel qualified to speak.

Parents do not at any time condone any insubordination in schools on the part of their children. Being parents, we realize fully that discipline is necessary. However, discipline carried too far not only fails of its purpose, but causes a retaliatory reaction which obviates the good to be accomplished.

Most of us, being accumstomed for many years to the idea of a skip day, gave our children permission to go. We had no thought of causing trouble for either Mr. Kjorlie or our children, so that all this commotion has been quite a shock.

Furthermore, we did not object to punishing for the offense. We were willing to have the two per cent taken from their grades. We were willing that they should remain at school, instead of going to the school picnic, although the idea of the seniors paying five dollars for ice cream which they were not to eat strikes us as rather ridiculous. We were willing that they should make up the time on Monday, June 8th, although we refused to pay the dollar per pupil which was asked to pay the salaries of three teachers for the extra day.

But—We were not willing to have commencement spoiled by having our children get up on the pltaform and say "thank you" for an empty folder, when they had earned a diploma.

Several parents protested to members of the board. We asked that our children be given their diplomas on Friday evening, and we guaranteed that the seniors would be back at school Monday morning to cheerfully make up their time.

At the senior class meeting a student asked Mr. Kjorlie if it would be possible to make up the required time on some day previous to the graduation day, June 5th. Mr. Kjorlie replied that it was impossible and that the time must be made up after the close of school. After making this statement, he allowed two boys to make up their time on Thursday, June 4th, and gave those same two boys signed and sealed diplomas on graduation night. Thus he reversed his own order, but enforced it upon the rest of the class.

In the senior class meeting, Mr. Kjorlie told the seniors that they would receive diplomas at commencement, and that since the teachers were willing to come back without pay, the dollar per pupil would not be required. One mother, in speaking to a member of the board later in the day, remarked that she didn't believe the seniors would get dimplomas, that the promise was merely to quiet things down. The board member replied that if Mr. Kjorlie said they would get diplomas he was sure they would receive them. Being very trusting, we let the matter rest.

Friday evening, our children were given diploma forms, unsigned and without the seal—pieces of paper as worthless as a blank check. We cannot help feeling that it was a direct slap at the parents.

So—the only amelioration of the punishment that I can see, was, the placing of diploma forms in the folders, instead of leaving them empty.

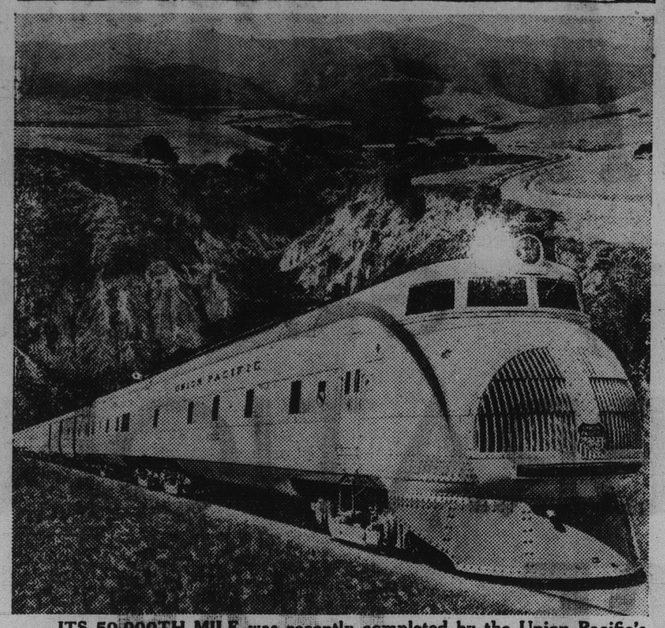
Twice 'Round-the-World



ITS 50,000TH MILE was recently completed by the Union Pacific's streamliner "City of Los Angeles" with an "on time" record at its Los Angeles and Chicago terminals on each trip since inauguration of scheduled service.

The "City of Los Angeles" is one of a fleet of six streamliners operated by the Union Pacific and illustrates the trend of modern railroading to light-weight streamlined speed trains.

Taxpayer's Cash Goes to Dogs in Memphis

Washington.—"Homeless Hector" has found a home—thanks to the New Deal, whose PWA built it with $25,000 of the taxpayers' money in Memphis, Tenn. The dog shelter, object of nation-wide censure as the all-time high in Roosevelt boondoggling, occupies a conspicuous place in "The Roosevelt Record," tabloid publication of the Democratic national committee, glorifying the New Deal.

The pound, with its impressive entrance and columned portico, and looking not unlike the press wing of the White House, is a haven of food and indolent luxury for the Memphis mongrels. Its construction is defended by "The Roosevelt Record" on the grounds that the dogs of the southern city are poor dogs, not like "the dogs of the rich—thoroughbreds, well-petted, well-fed, clean, gentle, playful, affectionate, housebroken."

The flea-bitten, lop-eared mutts, it is said, heartily approve this new re-distribution of dogdom wealth, as they loll under cool shower baths, administered by attendants.

Farley Fears Him

Already credited with having Jim Farley and his New Deal spellbinders on the defensive is young, red-headed John D. M. Hamilton, of Topeka, Kan., new chairman of the Republican National committee. He managed the campaign which won Landon the nomination unanimously.

THIRTY-SIXER

(By FRANCIS BRADFORD)

Oh, so you're a Forty-Niner!
Say, my old grandpap would snicker
Just t'see your fancy riggin'
And t' taste your p'ison likker,
And t' pipe your city lingo
And your fancy smokin' 'baccy
When the best that he could muster
Was a home-grown fag, b' cracky!

Say, he'd laugh t'see your whiskers:
Dainty trimmed mid skin so pinky
When his own was long and shaggy,
Full o' burrs and sorta stinky!
Bet he'd bust his buttons laughin'
Just t'view your dizzy shirty,
'Cause the only shirt he 'members
Was all torn t'shreds and dirty.

And he'd get a kick a'hearin'
Eddicated folks a'chattin',
When the Forty Niner folkses
Never heerd o' Greek or Latin;
Never thought o'readin' po'try,
Never knew no fancy figgers—
They just l'arnt to shoot a six-gun
And t'weigh their dust, by jiggers!

If you figger your a ringer
For the ancient Forty-Niner,
Don't ya let my grandpap see ya,
'Cause he was an old-time miner;
He can only stand a leetle,
And your rig'd set 'im 'swearin';
So please keep away fr'm grandpap
With that clownish garb your wearin'!

John Hamilton New National Chairman; Will Carry Fight to Enemy.
